

Marcele Gama

marcele@fdc.org.br

Marcele Gama is the International Relations Director for the Executive MBA Program at Brazil's Fundação Dom Cabral -FDC, a center for executive and corporate development that, for the last 40 years, has built integrated educational solutions for companies by promoting listening and dialogue within organizations.

Marcele has served as Program Director of Customized Programs and Social Innovation Programs at FDC, including 10,000 Women, a Goldman Sachs' global initiative with partners in 20 countries.

Previously, Marcele worked at Global Tech, a technology company that used to represent Minitab Inc in Brazil, owner of the Statistical Software Minitab, as a Commercial and Strategic Planning Manager.

At INDG – Instituto de Desenvolvimento Gerencial, the largest consultant firm in Latin America, with clients in several countries, she was a consultant and worked with budget planning and control, variable cost analysis and reduction, strategic planning, daily routine management implementation, process analysis and gap identification, standardization, quality tools implementation and follow up.

She earned an Executive MBA and Graduate Degree in Marketing from FDC and a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration with emphasis in Foreign Trade from Faculdade de Ciências Gerenciais UNA, 2001. Marcele also has been a member of FDC's volunteer program.