Darlene is responsible for overseeing all of the custom corporate learning programs and brings 17 years of experience in the field of executive education. She works closely with faculty directors in the final design and delivery for programs that frequently offer faculty led sessions, experiential learning, strategic projects and online learning. She works with a global clientele from the very senior level executives and all levels in between. She has traveled internationally as well as many cities in the US to deliver face-to-face programs. She brings a broad spectrum of experience to create the best possible experience for the client. Building close client relationships with a goal of excellence in all endeavors is the hallmark of her work with executives.

Prior to her six years at Northeastern, Darlene was the Associate Director for Executive Education at Boston University Questrom School of Business. She had an eleven year career in executive education managing and directing the elite custom clients. Prior to that and for 26 years, she used her entrepreneurial spirit running her own company, Charters Unlimited, arranging for private yacht charters covering the areas of New England, Florida/Bahamas and the Caribbean. Attention to detail, relationship building and project management are her core strengths.
